

House of the Dragon

Found on the black volcanic shores of Seseh Beach in Bali, Indonesia – just a short drive from southern coast hotspots Canggu and Seminyak, and an hour from Ngurah Rai International Airport (DPS) – the Anantara Dragon Seseh Bali Resort is a newly-announced property from global hotel owner and operator, Minor Hotels. Encompassing a resort and branded residences, it will be the first luxury beachfront resort on Seseh Beach, and the third Anantara Hotels & Resorts property in Bali. The property's striking architecture is a creation of renowned British architect John Dawes, who drew inspiration from the mystical Barong of Bali, with the intention of lending the complex a sense of strength and grace with a touch of fantasy. A dragon-like guardian that is also often depicted in the form of a lion, according to folklore the Barong is a symbol of health, good fortune, righteousness, and justice. The creature is considered a leader of good spirits, and has inspired many stories and dance-dramas. Developed and operated by the Taryan Group, with Anantara providing overall resort management, the 216-key Anantara Dragon Seseh Bali Resort is currently set to open in 2027, and will feature a mix of lead-in rooms and suites ranging from 52 sqm to 120 sqm. A serene sanctuary by the ocean, its Cocoon Residences will blend nature and modern elegance, designed to provide harmony between the interior and exterior, alongside stunning views of the sunrise and sunset over the Indian Ocean. It will offer world-class surfing on Seseh Beach through an on-site surf school, a restorative Anantara Spa replete with dedicated yoga and meditation studios, a top-of-the-line fitness centre, a beach lounge, three swimming pools, and three dining outlets: an all-day dining restaurant, a speciality Japanese restaurant, and a poolside bar.
